Is There A "Good Death"?

Sylvia Simpson

A good death was considered to be a serene one surrounded by one's loved ones. Is this possible in a death-phobic society that has medicalized dying and made it almost invisible? Can we engage with the idea of death in a way that helps us live more fully? How can we begin to prepare for our own death (mentally, emotionally, spiritually, and advanced directives-wise), all the while knowing that "death will come when it will come"?

Sylvia Simpson, MD is a Jungian analyst in part-time practice in Tucson, AZ.

11:30-12:30pm

Individuation in Relationship

Elaine Flannagan

The clarion call of individuation reverberates in the psyche, "Be the most you can be." This presentation will explore the why and how individuation is in operation in intimate (into-me-see) relationships, whether the relationship is a work, friend, family or couple relationship. Elaine Flannagan, MS, MEd, LPC is a Jungian-oriented psychotherapist in Tucson, AZ.

1:45-3:00pm

Personality and the Spiritual Path

Catherine Penn Williams

The Myers-Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) is commonly used to help people understand how they perceive the world and make decisions in work, educational and relationship settings. This presentation will show how the MBTI might also help us to more fully engage in spiritual practices that enhance our unique spiritual journeys.

Participants are encouraged to take an online version of the MBTI at <http://www.16personalities.com/free-personality-test> before attending.
